

Everyone knows me. Kids and adults. The strong and the skinny. Blondes and brunettes. Rock climbers and cops.

What could these people be afraid of?

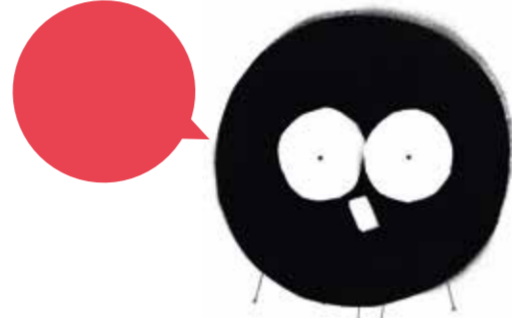

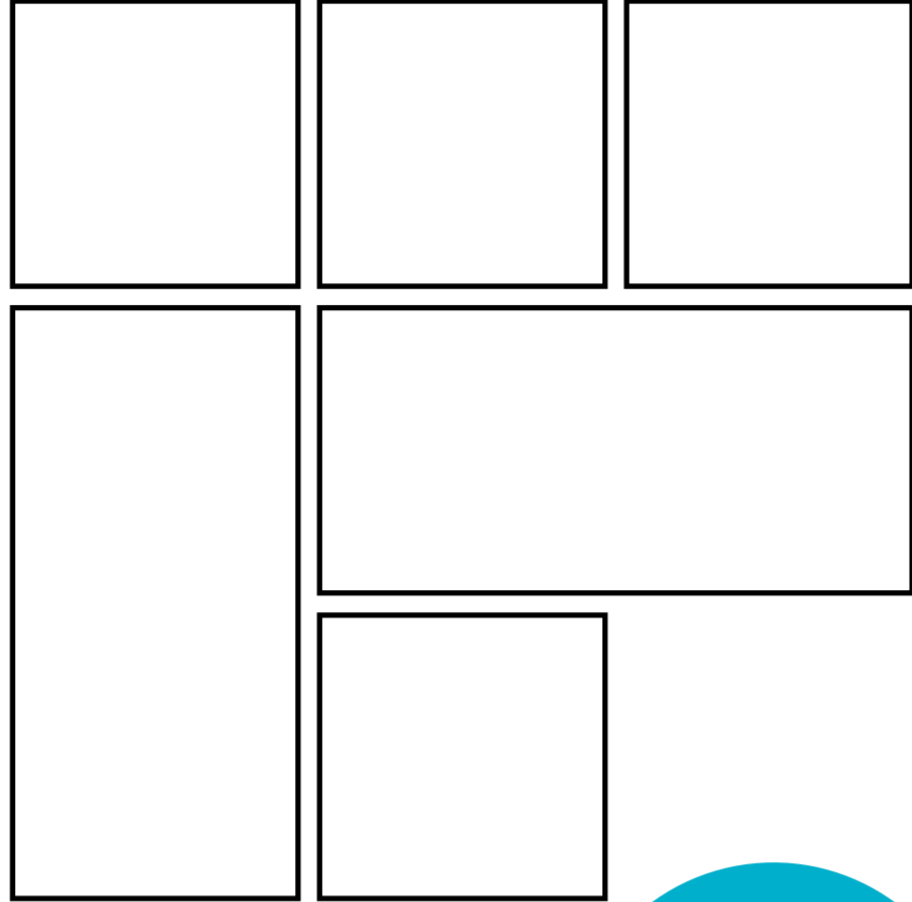

DIVER PRESIDENT

ROCK CLIMBER COOK

MOTHER FATHER

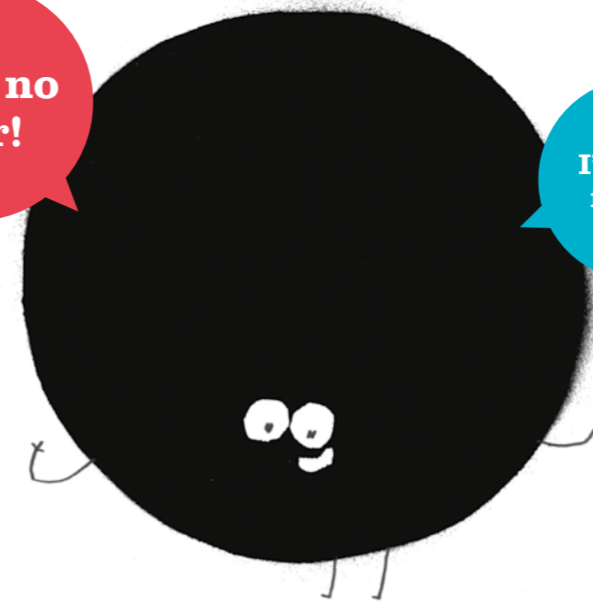

What would you say to them so they're not so scared?

Draw and write captions for your own scary story in the comic strip!

Sometimes we like to be a bit scared! What would fairy tales, films, and horror stories be without a little fear?

Have no fear!

I'm your friend!

Don't Be Afraid!

Labyrint Divadla Drak
An interactive exhibition about fear and why we shouldn't be afraid of it

Being brave means being able to face your own fears. To take a deep breath and say: "I can do this."

Anyone can be a superhero! Think up your own superhero and draw them here. Don't forget a name!

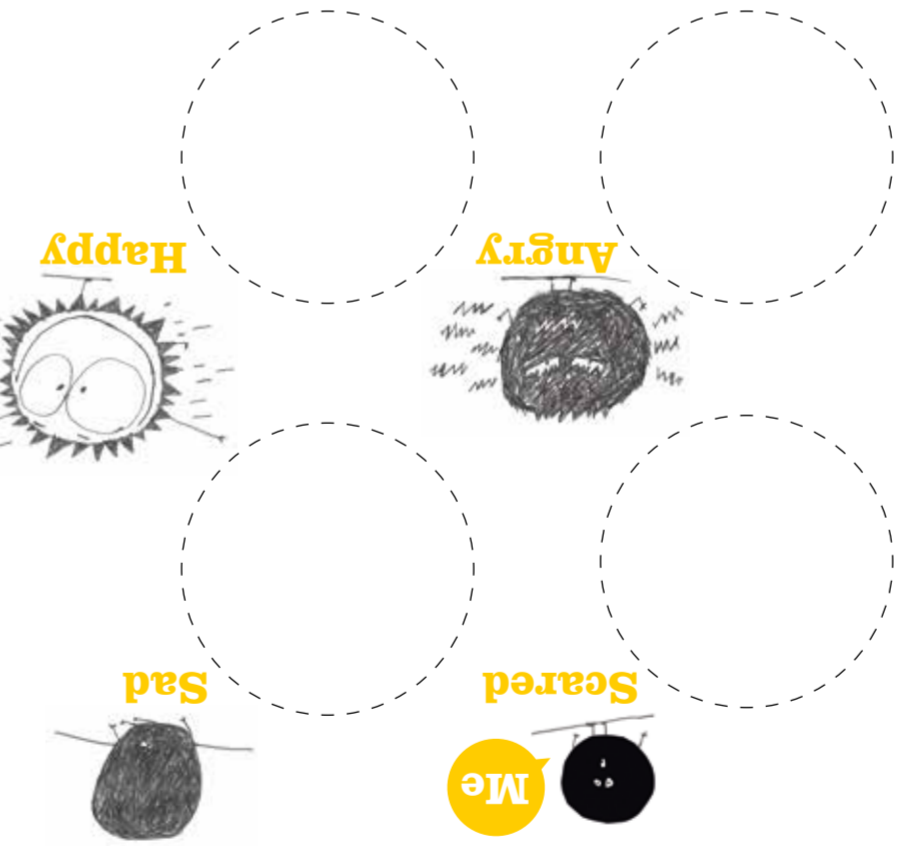

THIS SAYING PROBABLY COMES FROM THE IDEA THAT MONSTERS LIVE IN THE FOREST.

ALL OVER THE WORLD, ONE OF THE MOST FAMOUS MONSTERS IS THE DRAGON. THIS IS PROBABLY BECAUSE OUR ANCESTORS FEARED CARNIVORES AND REPTILES. SO THEY MADE UP STORIES COMBINING DIFFERENT TYPES OF BEASTS, CREATING FANTASTICAL DRAGONS.

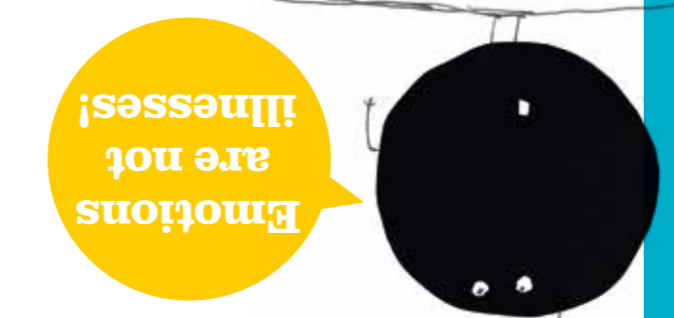

Who or what scares you? What would they look if they were a dragon? Try drawing your dragon here:

There's an old Czech saying, "Those who are afraid should not go into the forest".

Who wasn't afraid to play with their fears? Flip it over and you have a poster!

Draw the faces of people who are:
EVERYONE HAS FEELINGS AND EMOTIONS. THERE ARE FOUR BASIC ONES THAT HAVE BEEN PART OF THE HUMAN CHARACTER SINCE ANCIENT TIMES: FEAR, SADNESS, ANGER AND JOY.

I live with the people all over the world. Do you know what I'm called in foreign languages?
SWEDISH: "RÄDSLA"
JAPANESE: 恐怖 "OSORE"
TURKISH: "KORKU"
HUNGARIAN: "FELELEM"
If you know how to say fear in their language, write it in the bubble. If you don't know, try to ask someone.

I am fear.
